

EMMA'S TOP OF STROPS

FORMER Spice Girl Emma Bunton threw a monster strop at Wednesday night's Music Programme launch party at the Cobden Club when an interview went badly wrong.

The 29-year-old blonde stormed away from ITV's Little TPT after she paid too much attention to Emma's boyfriend Jade Jones, 25.

The mini Tara Palmer Tomkinson is interviewing celebrities at glitzy events while the 33-year-old real-life version is in the jungle preparing for I'm A Celebrity.

And she seemed to take a shine to hunky Jade.

So much so, in fact, that while the former Damage star was chewing the fat, his infinitely more famous girlfriend huffed upstairs.

An onlooker told The Goss: "Emma got really annoyed that the ITV crew spoke to Jade for so long, so she stormed off and left him to it."

"And he seemed to really get it in the neck from her when he finally went off to find her."

HUSH HUSH

WHICH screen star was caught by a bouncer in a compromising position with another man in the gents at a nightclub? Refusing to become the next George Michael, he gave the bouncer his credit cards if he kept schtum.

Lee's out of his tree

TOMMY Lee of Motley Crue disappointed his many fans at the No Ideal bash in Shoreditch, London, when he only managed to perform for 10 minutes.

Not a complaint ever made by his ex-wife and fellow sex-tape star Pamela Anderson, 37.

Tommy, 43, didn't hold back when it came to hard partying, though. And the fact that he had drunk the bar dry before taking to the stage might have contributed to his lack of form.

He could be hitting the Horlicks before we know it.

Picture: YDI

SICKENINGLY sexy Keira Knightley insists she's happier than ever – and judging by her painful-looking grin, the lady speaks the truth. The 20-year-old babe was smilier than Tony Blair on Prozac during her interview on The Early Show in New York.

And she says her mum's the driving force behind her sprightly spirits. Keira said: "She makes me feel like the luckiest girl in the world. 'When I was a child my mother and I would always talk about sex. 'She'd come up to my room and have me roll cigarettes for her and then tell me I had to have one with her. She's the perfect mum.' We think Social Services might take issue with that..."

Peaches 'n dream

WHO'D have thought skinny pop flop Lee Ryan, 22, would make it into Tatler's Little Black Book of Blighty's hottest bachelors? Certainly not Peaches Geldof, who gave a foul-mouthed rant worthy of her dad about the shortage of male totty on the list.

But the 16-year-old WAS impressed when she pipped Keira Knightley to the honour of being named hottest, poshest date at the bash at London's swish Baglioni Hotel.

Presumably Lee will never know whether she deserved the title...

BOY, 11, LEADS COPS ON AN 80mph CHASE

Picture: EAGLEPRESS

Madonna and wild

■ SUPER-FIT Madonna doesn't normally have a problem when it comes to looking a million dollars. But not even a star like Madge, 47, can avoid the blustery English weather. ■ The singer was barely recognisable with her hair blowing over her face as she left her pilates exercise class in London.

AN 11-year-old boy was convicted of dangerous driving after he led police on a high-speed chase.

He was found guilty of being behind the wheel of the Ford Escort as it careered along country roads.

It hit speeds up to 80mph, clipping verges and slewing across the carriageway, with four teenage passengers in the back.

The chase, on June 6 in Wisbech, Cambs., ended when the Escort hit a kerb and its front tyres exploded. It then left the road and smashed through a road sign.

Evidence

The boy, who is now 12 and cannot be named, denied dangerous driving, having no insurance or licence, and failing to stop.

Peterborough magistrate Carol Fisher told him: "We find your evidence lacking in credibility." Sentencing was adjourned.

Brits join car craze

DIY car nuts are spending more than £6billion a year on "pimping" their rides with hi-tech gadgets and fancy wheels and trims. But they lose out when they try to re-sell.

"Pimp-it-yourself is the new Do It Yourself," according to a report by the eBay Motors auction site.

The craze has taken Britain by storm due to cult MTV's Pimp My Ride. On the show, clapped out cars are given makeovers with patterned paintwork, suede seats and in-car cinemas.

Diddy, 36, spent £200,000 turning his Chevy Van into a home office and Wyclef Jean, 33, had a shark aquarium fixed to his Hummer.

In Britain, car accessories sales are worth an estimated £6.5bn a year.

But used car expert Dominic Littlewood warned: "When you sell, not everyone will share your taste."

FIREWORKS SIR BLOWS HIMSELF UP

A TEACHER has been suspended after blowing himself up in his school lab while trying to make fireworks.

Science head John Thomas was mixing chemicals after school hours when the blast nearly took his hand off.

He was taken to hospital and released after treatment.

But on his return to Bishop Gore comprehensive in Swansea he was suspended by headteacher Peter Wilcox.

It is understood Mr Thomas received a warning 10 years ago after a similar incident at the school in which another member of staff was injured.

■ by LAURA NEIL

Mr Wilcox confirmed yesterday an investigation was taking place but refused to disclose details of the explosion.

He said: "An incident has taken place and it is being investigated by the school's own disciplinary committee."

"A teacher at Bishop Gore has been suspended as a result of allegations of inappropriate use of school facilities outside of normal school hours."

"The allegations concern claims that a member of staff was researching techniques relating to the use of fireworks in pyrotechnic displays."

"The investigation is now proceeding in line with the school's disciplinary procedures and it would be inappropriate to comment further at this stage."

Safety

"However, Bishop Gore School would like to reassure parents and pupils that the safety of pupils and staff is not at risk."

Health and Safety experts are believed to have carried out an inquiry but it is not known if they made any recommendations.

Another teacher said: "Some of the chemicals used for this sort of process are inherently unstable."

"He badly burned his hand and required hospital treatment."

Mr Thomas, of Loughor, Swansea, refused to comment yesterday.

Hilton crash cops probed

A CRASH involving Paris Hilton, 24, and her boyfriend has led to an internal police probe.

Cops have launched an investigation into whether the VIP couple got preferential treatment after the accident.

Greek shipping heir Stavros Niarchos, 20, slammed Hilton's silver Bentley into a lorry in a bid to avoid paparazzi at a Los Angeles nightclub.

Rod Stewart's daughter Kimberly, 26, and actor Talan Torriero were in the car.

The crash was captured on video and Torriero, 19, was heard to say: "I'm the only sober one, let's go."

However nobody was breathalysed.

LA police said "an administrative investigation" had been launched to see if officers violated any procedures or policies.

SCORNEO:
Sunita hits

GIRLS SORT OUT THE WILD ROVERS

CORRIE'S wronged women form a wicked sisterhood to get revenge on the men who made their lives a misery.

Shelley Unwin, Sunita Alahan and Violet Wilson shack up together in the Rovers and vow never to allow blokes to control them again.

And each of the tormented trio hatches a plan to get their own back on their ex-loves.

Shop wife Sunita (Shobna Gulati, 38) is first to strike back after discovering her husband Dev (Jimmie Harkishin, 40) has fathered four daughters by three different women.

She arranges for vanloads of pizza and garlic bread to be ferried round to his shop, leaving him gobsmacked.

Then Rovers manager Shelley (Sally Lindsay, 31) hits on a way to drive her unfaithful ex-fiancee Charlie Stubbs round the bend.

Notice

She rings a host of taxi firms and arranges for cab after cab to arrive for the bully-boy builder (Bill Ward, 38).

Finally, barmaid Violet (Jenny Platt,

25) devises a way to make sure her cheating boyfriend Jason Grimshaw gets the bum's rush.

Labourer Jason (Ryan Thomas, 21) is horrified when he sees a notice in a telephone box reading: "Bad-boy builder offers sensual gay massage. Call Jason Grimshaw now. Can he fix it? Yes he can!"

An insider revealed: "The whole plot is hilarious and the sisterhood regard their revenge as very therapeutic."

"The girls feel a hell of a lot better after getting revenge on the men who have caused them so much heartache."

"They say there's nothing worse than a woman scorned - and Dev, Charlie and Jason find out it's absolutely true."

by JAMES WICKHAM

THIS is the tense moment when Hollyoaks teenager Justin Burton finds out if he is going to be convicted of murder.

Justin, played by 18-year-old Chris Fountain, clasps his hands together as if saying a prayer as the judge prepares to ask for the jury's verdict.

And there's every reason for his pals to celebrate after he is found not guilty. The dramatic scenes will be broadcast next Friday after a week of high tension and bruising court battles.

Unlucky Justin faces the murder rap after he picked up the knife his dead brother used to accidentally kill the bully who had been tormenting him.

Brother Ali got run over and killed as he fled the murder scene, leaving Justin with no witness to save him.

But a show insider said: "Justin is saved at the last minute by sweet-natured teenager Darlene Taylor who changes her testimony at the 11th hour."

"Darlene takes the stand on the final day of the trial and there's a dramatic change of evidence."

Earlier in the trial things looked bleak for Justin as his enemies took to the stand and the prosecution bullied his supporters.

PAUL McCartney is set to be the first pop star to broadcast in space. The former Beatles star's gig in Anaheim, USA, will be blasted to NASA astronauts on November 12. Macca, 63, said: "I was extremely proud to find out that one of my songs was played for the crew of Discovery this summer. "In our concert we hope to repay the favour."

JOE MOTT'S AWARD WINNING HOT

KAISER Chiefs have turned to the late Frank Zappa on their new DVD. The Leeds lads release Enjoyment at the end of the month. Director Cally said: "I remember seeing Frank Zappa's 200 Motels in the early 70s and we wanted to recreate that long-form video idea."

CAUGHT LIVE

Humanz/The Automatic, Barfly, Camden
THE dominance of acts that play and write killer tunes looks set to continue next year. Step forward The Automatic. The Welsh rocking youngsters throw in a keyboard-driven melody to splendid effect. Young girls will fancy them, and boys will want to be them. Humanz make their business crystal clear. They're a band set to be loud, gruff and do the working classes proud. No airs and graces.

KIM DAWSON

GIVE US A BELL

THE Modern's Emma Cook took time out from their British tour to speak to me.

Are you enjoying life on the road?
It's been exhausting, but it's great.

What's the guiding principle behind The Modern?
It's all about going out, dressing up and dancing the night away. We're not sending a political message, we just want to put on a show.

So, you're not a fan of the James Blunts of this world then?
All those singer-songwriter types get knocked a lot, but I reckon it's good to have that diversity.

How's the album?
Great thanks. Stephen Hague produced it. We just told him we wanted every song to sound like a potential single.

What's on your iPod?
I like The Killers and the new Goldfrapp single. Madonna's on there too. Her new single is the best thing she's done.

Battle of the steamy vids

MARIAH Carey and Shakira stick with the old ways - using steamy videos to complement their singles.

Impossibly fit Mariah, 35, wears little shorts and rolls around a lot in the promo for Don't Forget About Us. An insider said: "She was topless in the pool for one scene. "We had to have a closed set, but many men found an excuse to be there watching." Meanwhile, Shakira, 28, romps with a bloke in the shower for Don't Bother. Shakira recently told me: "My new dance involves me shaking my breasts a lot. "I just thought about which part of my body I didn't shake much and worked from there."

GIRLS GO CRIMBO CRACKERS!

CAUGHT LIVE

Electric Eel Shock, Astoria, London
GUITARIST Aki is screaming "F you!" at the top of his lungs. Bassist Kazuto replies, "You b**".
Drummer Gian, meanwhile, is wallowing his kit - with his man part. Welcome to the brilliant world of Electric Eel Shock - Japan's premier purveyors of hatstand metal and fuzz-box punk. "Do you like rock London?" inquires Aki. "Yes, we do," the crowd answers. Especially if this lot are dishing it out.
CARL STROUD

CAUGHT LIVE

Stevie Wonder Abbey Road Studios, London

STEVIE Wonder's voice is an instrument specifically designed to communicate human emotions.

At the legendary Abbey Road Studios, he treated fewer than 400 people to a three-hour set as he recorded for Radio 2. Master Blaster Living For The City, Sir Duke and Superstition, kept fans - including Sacha Baron Cohen and Martin Freeman, both 34, - very happy. But it was when Stevie sat alone at the piano that he showed how he earned that surname. Introducing You And I - dedicated to his recently deceased first wife Syretta - Stevie wiped away a tear. Motown president Sylvia Rhone waffled for ages half way through the set about her involvement with Stevie, 55. Sorry luv, don't care, push off. Even a song from daughter Ayesha Morris was unwelcome. When Stevie's performing, I don't want it interrupted by ANYONE. One of my most special musical moments ever.

JOE MOTT

GIRLS Aloud are releasing an album of dodgy Christmas hits.

And while any chance to get them in sexy Santa outfits is encouraged, I must question some of their song choices.

Covering Bing Crosby's White Christmas is acceptable - but not Wizzard, Slade or Sir Cliff Richard.

Can't wait to hear Cheryl Tweedy's Geordie tones screaming "It's Chriilstmaas" though.

I'm told: "They're doing covers and some originals."

"Ones you'll know include I Wish It Could Be Christmas Every Day, Jingle Bell Rock and Merry Xmas Everybody."

I can only hope these songs are delivered with the gorgeous girls' tongues wedged firmly in their cheeks. My source added: "The girls have got a couple of cheeky ones like Not Tonight Santa and Christmas Round At Ours which are a bit of fun."

Fans of Cheryl, 22, Sarah Harding, 23, Nadine Coyle, 20, Kimberley Walsh, 23, and Nicola Roberts, 19, will have to be swift if they want to get their hands on the dubious festive offering.

Sexy

The bonus CD will accompany a limited run of new album Chemistry, out next month.

There's also talk of them having a new and sophisticated image for an ITV1 festive special.

If this means no sexy Santa get-ups, I'll demand sackings. Sarah, don't let me down.

A FLOP: Daniel Radcliffe

Potter has no patter

by ALEXANDRA CHALMERS
HARRY Potter megastar Daniel Radcliffe has admitted he's definitely not a wizard when it comes to chatting up girls.

Like his character in the fourth film, Harry Potter And The Goblet Of Fire, he finds it difficult to talk to members of the opposite sex.

And he also confessed he was once scared out of his wits by a fan dressed in nothing but a Harry Potter towel.

He said: "Once I was going to the MTV studios in New York on a freezing cold day and there was a girl standing outside in nothing but a Harry Potter towel."

Hero

"She was holding a sign that said, 'Nothing comes between me and Harry Potter'. I was absolutely terrified."

Daniel, now 16, won the prized role when he was just 12.

And he added: "It's interesting that in this latest film Harry is having trouble asking girls out because when I was 14 I was pathetic with girls."

"I've got a bit better these days but maybe I'm still like Harry with the ladies."

"He's the sort of hero who can fight dragons and swim underwater yet he can't ask a girl for a date."

The new movie hits British cinema screens next Friday.

STAR BURST

A 13-YEAR-OLD girl in Virginia, USA, has been charged with trying to poison her teacher by putting a chemical black-board cleaner in his coffee.

Killer dog on loose

POLICE are hunting a real-life Hound of the Baskervilles on Dartmoor.

The beast has attacked 20 ewes, tearing into their faces and in some cases ripping heads off.

In Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes novel the hound is trained to kill.

And it's thought that the dog terrorising the Holmbeam, Princetown and Two Bridges area - near where the book is set - is being put through its paces as a fighting dog.

Farmer Colin Able said: "My sheep are being killed for sport or for training."

BREAKFAST BARS

Woss going on?

CHAT show host Jonathan Ross was made up with his sexy guests Cameron Diaz and Toni Collette.

The blonde babes, both 33, transformed Wossy, 44, with girly pink lipgloss and eye-liner when they recorded tonight's Friday Night With Jonathan Ross show for BBC1.

Start your day down the boozier

by IAN FLETCHER

HUNDREDS of Britain's pubs and bars are rejecting late night opening - in favour of serving up breakfasts.

Traditional boozers plan to open up at 9am, to cater for hungry office workers and shoppers.

Hardly any pubs have chosen to go for 24-hour opening when new licensing laws come into force from November 24, according to trade magazine Caterer and Hotelkeeper.

But two of the UK's biggest pub groups are set to extend their hours at the start of the day.

High Street pub chain JD Wetherspoon plans to open its 650 managed pubs at 9am every day on a fully licensed basis.

Mitchells and Butlers and a handful of Laurel pubs have also opted to open earlier to serve breakfast, coffee and sandwiches from 10am.

Bacon

Caterer and Hotelkeeper reports: "Pubs and bars have spurned the chance to serve booze 24 hours a day, opting instead for cups of tea and bacon butties."

"Concerns that the new drink laws would usher in more late-night drinking venues seem misplaced, with hardly any venues opening around the clock."

Just one of Enterprise Inns' 8,500 tenancies is believed to have opted for all-day opening and even late-night bar operator Inventive Leisure - which owns the Revolution vodka bar chain - has no plans to close later than 2am.

Most operators have extended opening times at weekends, but hardly at all during the week.

A DUTCH small ad has gone around the world on the net. It reads: "Encyclopedia for sale. No longer needed. Just married. Wife knows everything."

Mark of a villain

A RANDY hairdresser was facing jail last night after leaving his "fingerprints" on a young trainee.

The girl's mum took photos of red marks on her breasts after Danny Hamed had groped her several times.

Nottingham Crown Court heard yesterday.

Hamed, 30, from the city, was convicted of two charges of sexual assault and will be sentenced next month.

Judge Michael Stokes told him: "I regard this as a serious matter. The likelihood is you will receive a custodial sentence."

JONO COLEMAN

The Mouth from Down Under

ONLY JOCKING, CHRISTINE

COLIN and Justin from Five's How Not To Decorate may have upset Christine Hamilton with their makeover of her apartment, but I thought their ideas for my radio studio were fabulous. All I have to do now is to convince the bosses of BBC London, although it's not looking too good at the moment. I'm still working on them for a chill-out area where I can go when the records are on. The Hamiltons wouldn't return my producer's phone call when we had the Glasgow boys on the radio the other morning. I wanted everyone to make up on brekkie radio, but it never happened. Colin and Justin said that they would gladly chat to the Hamiltons live on the show. But Christine didn't pick up the phone. Maybe she was just too busy redecorating her place after the Jocks worked their design magic. Anyway, I'm sure they will all see the funny side of it... in about 20 years. Although we had a good laugh about it on the radio, I'm not sure I'd let the lads loose on MY pad. It might end up looking like Rab C Nesbitt's place.

■ CAN'T tell you who won, but I've survived Celebrity Stars in Their Eyes. Yep, I was lucky enough to spend last weekend at Granada Studios with Cat Deeley, left, and the gang. I was on with Roxanne Pallett from Emmerdale, Shobna Gulati from Corrie, Paul Usher from The Bill and the lovely Annabel Croft. I'm sworn to secrecy, but let's just say... it was very close when it came to choosing a winner, although I think the studio audience made the right decision. I had a complete ball pretending to be a proper singer for a weekend. Let's just hope it comes across when the show goes out early next year.

Big-heart Lenny so generous

LENNY Henry dropped into the brekkie show the other day to tell me about his latest project.

It's a DVD to raise money for the restoration of London's Hackney Empire, and features one of his great stand-up routines recorded at the theatre earlier this year.

Griff Rhys-Jones, Lenny, Dawn French and lots of us showbiz types have been raising money for years to finish the work.

The DVD is great - and not too rude. It's full of great gags and routines and characters that Lenny has been working on with writer Kim Fuller (the brother of Spice Girl manager Simon).

Voices

Lenny has always been fantastic at inventing characters and voices based on real people. Even his daughter Billy gets a few mentions.

Anyway, Lenny is a huge fan of Bill Bailey and has seen his live show. He also loves Ricky Gervais and Little Britain.

It's great when someone as famous as Lenny can big up other performers, especially when you look at the size of some showbiz egos.

I don't think there'd be many pop stars who could do that without having to be sedated first.

Talking of Little Britain, I had a sneak preview of the new series.

Alan, the charity collec-

■ CONGRATS to my old mate Lorraine Kelly for finishing the gruelling New York marathon the other day.

Every Wednesday, Lorraine bounds into my GMTV studio for Jono's Jukebox.

But this week, she was limping around as every muscle in her body cried, "Help me, I'm tired". I can't believe that she did it - and didn't miss one LK Live.

Meanwhile I was chatting to Anastacia, above, in the make-up room and she asked me why we were wearing poppies. She thought it was some kind of promotion. But when I explained what they were, she wanted one, too.

tor with the wandering hands, is a little predictable and a bit like a Harry Enfield character, and sleazy Sir Norman Fry, although very funny, is a tad out of date.

I'm going to miss Matt's hypnotist and the Dennis

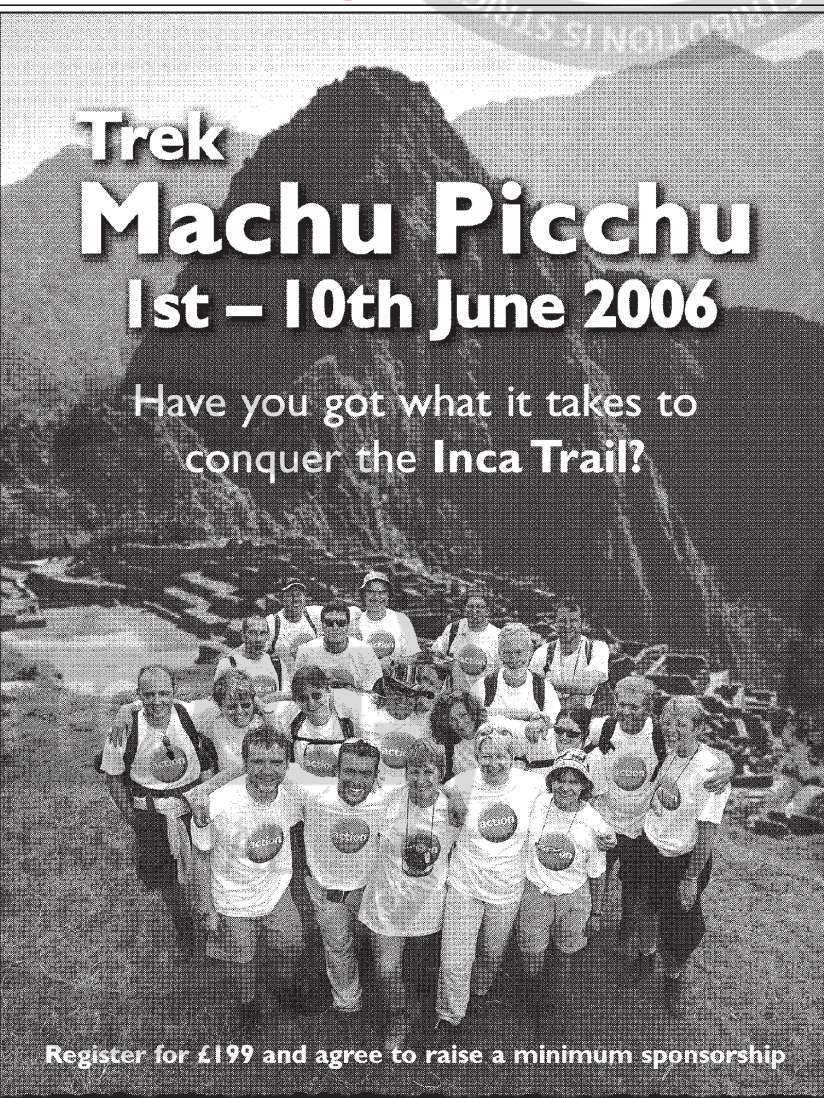

Waterman gags, but at least Vicki Pollard, Marjorie Davies and the Only Gay In The Village are all still there.

Watch out for the new series of Little Britain starting next Thursday on BBC1.

DISGUISE: Superman as reporter Clark Kent with Lois Lane

HELLO SUPER

IT'S underpants over tights time again, folks... Superman's back! Filming of the £200million Hollywood blockbuster Superman Returns has almost finished and here are the pictures to prove it.

The Man Of Steel is played by Brandon Routh, 26, who shot to fame in TV comedy Will And Grace. In the flick, out next June, he comes back to Earth to save the planet from Lex Luthor (Kevin Spacey, 46).

And as reporter Clark Kent he also has to win back the affections of Lois Lane, played by Orlando Bloom's girlfriend Kate Bosworth, 22.

PASSION: Moving in for a kiss with Lois. And above, Kevin Spacey as Lex Luthor
